

Not fifty shades of grey but two new ones from Treatex

At Floor Sanding Services I'm always looking for new colours that are contemporary and fit with current trends. I have a long association with Treatex and their products. Their products are synonymous with quality and durability.

From their new range of colours I have chosen not fifty shades of grey I'm afraid but two, pebble grey and a slate grey. Grey is the new big thing in floors so if fancy a different approach to colouring your old pine floor, or indeed your new hardwood floor just ask to see it and make up your own mind.
